

Sample Job

SUMMARY

Python

This assessment measures an individual's knowledge of Python software language including data types, functions, classes, objects etc. Those who score high are proficient in the software and would require minimum training on the job. Those who score less require on the job training and hand holding in the initial days.

11
Percentile

